

Green Valley News

Wednesday, Nov. 4, 2015

Photos by Ellen Sussman Special to the Green Valley News

Fred Butler was busy unloading cars.

QC group brings in items, cash for VA hospital

Green Valley News

A clothing drive by the The Women of Quail Creek for the VA hospital in Tucson netted 7,525 pounds of clothing and household items, 232 pounds of toiletries, 66 backpacks, seven bikes and $476.

Included in that total Saturday was an outpouring of generosity from several members of the community. Yoga instructor Karen Baker told her students they could make a cash donation to the homeless veterans or bring in clothing or household goods in lieu of paying her class fee last week. Her students wound up donating $232 and 12 large bags of clothing and toiletries.

Significant donations were also given by Gamma Sigma Sorority and Rancho Sahuarita resident Irene Richter.

Six bags of clothing not suitable for the VA were donated to Genesis House, a domestic violence shelter.

David and Lindsay Dickinson sort donated clothing Saturday.

